one review so I thought it imperative that I write my own This is an excellent body of work by Nading and it is especially topical to my own research of infectious diseases spread by mosquito vectors I enjoyed how his research is presented especially in its discussion of the role of global temperature aver Dengue fever is the world rsquo s most prevalent mosquito borne illness but Alex Nading argues that people in dengue endemic communities do not always view humans and mosquitoes as mortal enemies Drawing on two years of ethnographic research in urban Nicaragua and challenging current global health approaches to animal borne illness Mosquito Trails tells the story of a group of community health workers who struggle to come to terms with dengue epidemics a About the Author Alex M Nading is Lecturer in Social Anthropology at the University of Edinburgh nbsp
